

"Change is always tough," she reassures me
"But enough is enough – please do it for me
Put aside your pride – you know you want to
I'll be by your side to help you get through"

She thinks I need to fill a void, but I just can't imagine giving up my Android

She just won't shut up about the pluses
But I don't really see what all the fuss is
Now she drags me down to Verizon – says it will expand my horizons
God knows I really love my wife, but I'm sick of hearing 'bout battery life-no more, no more.

If I get a new iPhone, promise you'll leave me alone?
Swear to me that it's the best; then I might say yes...iOS.

"Hey Siri! Who's your favorite singer?"	"I don't like to play favorites."
"Hey Siri, can you make me famous?"	"I'm afraid not."
"Hey Siri...will you be my friend?"	"Oh Kluge, I'll be your friend in fair weather and foul."
"Hey Siri....will you [heart] me forever?"	"Well...you're definitely starting to grow on me."

Of all today's technology, I'm starting to think Siri's the one for me
Can't help my career, but more helpful by far – she remembers where I park my car, oh yeah!

Now I've got my new iPhone – never will I be alone
Lost in Siri's virtual caress...I never would have guessed.... iOS.

"By the power vested in me by Apple Incorporated, I now pronounce you Siri...and wife."